COMPLAINT

Civil Action No.

5-05CV0266-C

Plaintiff Securities and Exchange Commission alleges the following:

SUMMARY

1. Jonathan D. Nelson is the former Chief Financial Officer, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer of Patterson-UTI Energy, Inc., a publicly-traded onshore oil drilling, exploration and production company headquartered in Snyder, Texas.

2. From at least January 2001 to November 2005, Nelson engaged in a bogus invoice scheme which defrauded Patterson-UTI and its shareholders of tens of millions of dollars. Nelson submitted bogus invoices to Patterson-UTI on behalf of XIT Land & Energy, Inc., a company Nelson controls. Nelson then forged approvals on internal company documents, causing Patterson-UTI to pay the invoices to XIT. XIT received the bogus invoice payments in a bank account controlled by Nelson.

3. In November 2005, a Patterson-UTI official questioned Nelson regarding the XIT invoices. While Nelson confessed that he had embezzled approximately $29 million from the company through the bogus invoice, Nelson has in fact diverted as much as $70 million in unauthorized payments to XIT during the period.

4. Nelson transferred the embezzled funds from the XIT bank account to other entities he controls, including Relief Defendants Chisum Travel Center, Ltd., Z8 Properties, Ltd., Three Stars Aviation, LLC and Chisum Coach, Ltd. Nelson used the funds to purchase an airplane, an airfield, a cattle ranch, homes, vehicles and a truck stop, among other things.

5. Patterson-UTI's public filings with the Commission since 2000 – which Nelson approved and/or signed – were materially false and misleading because they never disclosed any of these facts.

6. In the interest of protecting the public from fraudulent activities, the Commission brings this action seeking an order enjoining Nelson from further violations of Section 17(a) of the Securities Act of 1933 ("Securities Act"), Sections 10(b) and 13(b)(5) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act"), and Rules 10b-5, 13a-14, 13b2-1 and 13b2-2 thereunder, and for aiding and abetting Patterson-UTI's violations of Sections 13(a), 13(b)(2)(A), 13(b)(2)(B) and 14(a) of the Exchange Act and Rules 12b-20, 13a-1 and 14a-9 thereunder. The Commission also seeks an order requiring Nelson and the Relief Defendants to disgorge all ill-gotten gains, plus prejudgment interest thereon, and Nelson to pay a civil monetary penalty. The Commission also seeks an order barring Nelson from serving as an officer or director of any public company.

ALLEGATIONS

The Bogus Invoice Scheme

16. From around 1999 to November 2005, Nelson was the Chief Financial Officer of Patterson-UTI. He was also vice president, secretary and treasurer of the company.

17. Nelson's duties as CFO included overseeing the company's financial-accounting functions, developing and implementing internal controls over these functions, overseeing the preparation of the company's financial statements for inclusion in quarterly and annual reports to the Securities and Exchange Commission, making representations to the company's independent auditors regarding the accuracy of the company's financial statements, and certifying the truthfulness and accuracy of the financial statements and other statements in the company's quarterly and annual SEC reports.

18. From at least January 2001 to October 2005, Nelson caused Patterson-UTI to pay XIT's bogus invoices. Nelson forged initials on company documents that were required to approve the invoices before they were paid, thus circumventing company policy and frustrating the company's internal controls.

19. Nelson caused Patterson-UTI to make the following payments to XIT in furtherance of the bogus invoice scheme:

20. In the fall of 2005, the company began conducting a routine review of payroll and 401K plan records. As part of that review, company officials made certain inquiries of Nelson regarding the payroll and tax records. On November 3, 2005, Nelson resigned abruptly.

21. Following Nelson's resignation, the company began investigating certain large payments Nelson directed the company to make, including payments to XIT. On November 9, 2005, Nelson admitted to a company official that he controlled XIT; that he had circumvented company policy and internal controls so that the company would pay XIT based on bogus invoices Nelson prepared; that he forged signatures or initials on internal documents to cause Patterson-UTI to make payments to XIT; and that he directed payments to be made to a XIT bank account maintained at Bank of America that Nelson controlled.

22. Nelson further admitted that he misappropriated approximately $29 million from Patterson-UTI. According to company records, Nelson in fact embezzled almost $70 million of Patterson-UIT funds.

23. XIT was not a legitimate vendor of Patterson-UTI, and Nelson caused the payment of bogus invoices to XIT without the authority of Patterson-UTI. Patterson-UTI did not receive any value in exchange for any of the payments to XIT.

24. Nelson transferred, directly or indirectly, the embezzled funds from the XIT bank account to other entities he controlled for no apparent consideration, including transfers to Relief Defendants Chisum Travel, Z8 Properties, Three Stars Aviation and Chisum Coach. Nelson used the funds to purchase an airplane, an airfield, a West Texas cattle ranch, homes, vehicles and a full-service truck stop, among other things.

Material Misrepresentations and Omissions

25. In March 2001, Patterson-UTI filed a proxy statement as part of a registration statement on SEC Form S-4 in connection with the merger between the company's predecessor firms. As required by the Form S-4, the proxy statement purported to disclose the related party transactions during the prior year that exceeded $60,000, which are required to be disclosed under Item 404 of Regulation S-K. The Form S-4 did not disclose the amounts Nelson had caused Patterson-UTI to pay XIT, which exceeded $60,000. Nelson, as CFO of the acquiring company in the merger, reviewed and approved this filing.

26. In each year between April 2002 and April 2005, Patterson-UTI filed its annual proxy statement pursuant to Section 14(a) of the Exchange Act, purporting to disclose information concerning the company's related party transactions during the year that exceeded $60,000, as required by Item 404 of Regulation S-K. The annual proxy statement, which Nelson reviewed and approved, did not disclose the amounts Nelson had caused Patterson-UTI to pay to XIT, which greatly exceeded $60,000.

27. In connection with the audits of Patterson-UTI's annual financial statements between December 31, 2000 and December 31, 2004, and the reviews of the company's quarterly financial statements during that period through the quarter ended June 30, 2005, Nelson signed representation letters to Patterson-UTI's auditors representing, among other things, that “[t]here has been no fraud involving management or employees who have significant roles in the Company's internal control” in the current year or quarter. He also represented that the company had properly recorded or disclosed all related party transactions. For the reasons alleged herein, these representations were false.

28. For each of Patterson-UTI's quarterly and annual periodic filings between September 30, 2002 and June 30, 2005, Nelson certified the facts required under Exchange Act Rule 13a-14, including:

- (a) that Nelson had reviewed the filing;
- (b) that the filing did “not contain any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state a material fact necessary to make the statements made, in light of the circumstances under which such statements were made, not misleading with respect to the period covered by this report”;
- (c) that “the financial statements, and other financial information included in this report, fairly present in all material respects the financial condition, results of operations and cash flows of the registrant as of, and for, the periods presented in this report”;
- (d) that Nelson was responsible for establishing and maintaining disclosure controls and procedures and internal control over financial reporting for Patterson-UTI and had,

among other things, “designed such internal control over financial reporting, or caused such internal control over financial reporting to be designed under our supervision, to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles” and “disclosed in this report any change in [Patterson-UTI]’s internal control over financial reporting that occurred during [its] most recent fiscal quarter (the registrant’s fourth fiscal quarter in the case of an annual report) that has materially affected, or is reasonably likely to materially affect, the registrant’s internal control over financial reporting”; and

(e) that Nelson had “disclosed, based on [his] most recent evaluation of internal control over financial reporting, to the registrant’s auditors and the audit committee of the registrant’s board of directors (or persons performing the equivalent functions): (a) all significant deficiencies and material weaknesses in the design or operation of internal control over financial reporting which are reasonably likely to adversely affect the registrant’s ability to record, process, summarize and report financial information; and (b) any fraud, whether or not material, that involves management or other employees who have a significant role in the registrant’s internal control over financial reporting.”

29. In light of Nelson’s bogus invoice scheme, the certifications identified above were false and misleading.

Victims of the Scheme

30. Nelson defrauded Patterson-UTI and its shareholders by theft of money and by causing Patterson-UTI to falsify financial information that was disclosed to shareholders and the public. Patterson-UTI, which is traded on the NASDAQ exchange, has more than 172 million shares outstanding with a market capitalization in excess of $5 billion, and an average daily trading volume exceeding 2.5 million shares.

31. On November 10, 2005, the company announced publicly that $70 million may have been embezzled from the company by a former officer over a five year period. The company's share price dropped nearly 13% within hours of the announcement, and trading volume more than tripled to 9 million shares.
